Donora to Bring Together Candidates and Party Hosts

DR. BRUMBAUGH COMING

Philadelphia Educator Who is Aspirant for Gubernatorial Honors to be Present

With delegations present from Charleroi, Washington, Canonsburg, Monongahela, McDonald and other points, the Republican campaign in the county will be formally opened in Donora tomorrow with an old fashioned rally. Twenty-five automobiles will go from Charleroi and it is likely a special car will be chartered to convey others who wish to go. From 150 to 200 Charleroi people will attend.

Speakers have been announced, but chief interest rests in the coming of Dr. Martin Brumbaugh, candidate for governor, and Hon. Henry Houck, candidate for secretary of internal affairs. Added interest was injected in the rally Saturday by a telegram received by County Chairman Norman E. Clark from the state committee stating that the Hon. John R. K. Scott, of Philadelphia, candidate for congressmen-at-large, will be present to speak. In addition to these names Hon. Thomas M. Crago, of Waynesburg; Mahlon M. Garland and Daniel Kafean, candidates for congressmen-at-large; Frank B. McClain, candidate for lieutenant-governor; and Messrs. G. P. Baker, Harry R. Myers and J. Add Sprowels, candidates for assembly will be on hand. It is understood that William M. Brown, former lieutenant-governor, will be present.

Preparations on a large scale are being made for the affair at Donora Saturday. There was an exceptionally good turnout for the tenth annual political demonstration that was ever held in the steel town.

Local arrangements for the rally are being made by the Young Men's Republican club of Donora.

The work of arranging for the rally has been divided among a list of committees and every detail is receiving earnest attention.

The rally will start with a public reception for the candidates at the Irondale hotel beginning at 6 o'clock in the evening. At 7 o'clock there and Mrs. Henry Strange of Pittsburgh will be an automobile parade with red fire accompaniment. This parade will be held next year at Eldora park. right in the league and a possible $50, Had Fayette City appeared and won by Saturday afternoon refusing to show up for the game at Charleroi, they would have been hailed champions of the league. They did this because the Charleroi managers refused to give them 40 per cent of the gate receipts, to say nothing of their birth-game, something entirely uncalled for by the rules and entirely without precedent.

In full strength the Charleroi team was on the field promptly at the hour of the rule: The home team shall pay one cent for the game—3:30 o'clock—but the visiting team one meal for twelve men, and furnish a place for the visitors to take immediate steps on the initiative

FALLOWFIELD AVENUE STORE IS POPULAR PLACE

One of the oldest business houses in Charleroi is the shoe store located at 513 Fallowfield Ave., of which J. J. Beerens is now owner and proprietor. This business was established about 20 years ago when the town was young, and although it has been under many management since that time it has never ceased to grow.

The growth has been marked since engaged in the breeding of fancy horses by J. J. Beerens, the fine horses from Belgium. This did not suit him so four years ago he came to Charleroi and purchased the shoe store which he has since designed.

Mr. Beerens was born and raised in the northern part of Belgium. He is the "Right Store on the Wrong Side of the Street." He is a member of the Business Men's Association and wide awake to returning to his native land he designs his business opportunities.

Former Charleroi Pastor Gets Word of War's Effect

Rev. Clifford S. Joshua, former pastor of the First Baptist church here, also stated that the prices of necessary commodities, such as bread, and sugar, were not nearly so high as at the beginning of the struggle, but that they had about reached England, which cells in a vivid way than normal price. The panic-like conditions that exist there as regards news from the conflict. In fact, realize that there is really no cause for the prices of foodstuffs to soar. This is because the papers of foodstuffs and together with the are afraid to publish rumors owing to products at hand. No real danger of the very strict censorship of the English government.

It seems strange to us, who are used to realize that England with her large fleet, want to grumble at the indefinite reports that our newspapers contain, practically command the markets of the world, and have regained control of the people of a country actively engaged in the struggle, can get practically no news from the front. ARRIVE FROM EUROPE. COULD NOT JOIN THE RED CROSS

This however, can be explained in this way. The English government has reserved the right to cause any news-paper, that publishes inaccurate information, to stop putting out an issue.

For this reason the American papers in company with their father, James contain far more news concerning the war, than the British papers. Another reason for the scant amount of news that is published in England is that the warring parties are trying to keep their maneuvers, forces and location, as secret as possible. Only authentic news will be countenanced in England.

The letter Rev. Mr. Joshua received certification.

WAR INDICTMENT

An awful indictment of the war it prevailing in Europe is sent in his weekly financial review by Clews, the New York financier, sees a terrible effect from the war. He says:

After the experiences of this devastating and brutally cruel war on life property, no permanent peace can be effected unless it provides for the maintenance of all the nations involved, and a binding political compact between them for a proportionation of forces ample to both the land and sea of the combatants, also to include all nations. If that is accomplished as a result of the war, then it will be important gain to humanity, part some compensation growth of the costly and dreadful war of human life will be delayed. If such a settlement is not reached, then recuperation will be intentions will be likely about another similar war course of time, which may involve our continent and the whole of thereby making a greater desolation and destruction of property in the present upheaval.

Only possible gain that this war produce is what I propose, as above, and the people of all should rise up and insist upon a question for the people's world to solve for their nation, provided the various parts will not accomplish that the lives and the people's interests are where the suffering strike. Why, then, do not make their voice and sufficiently strong to overrule that undertake to rule, to their safety and interest, and born of revenge.

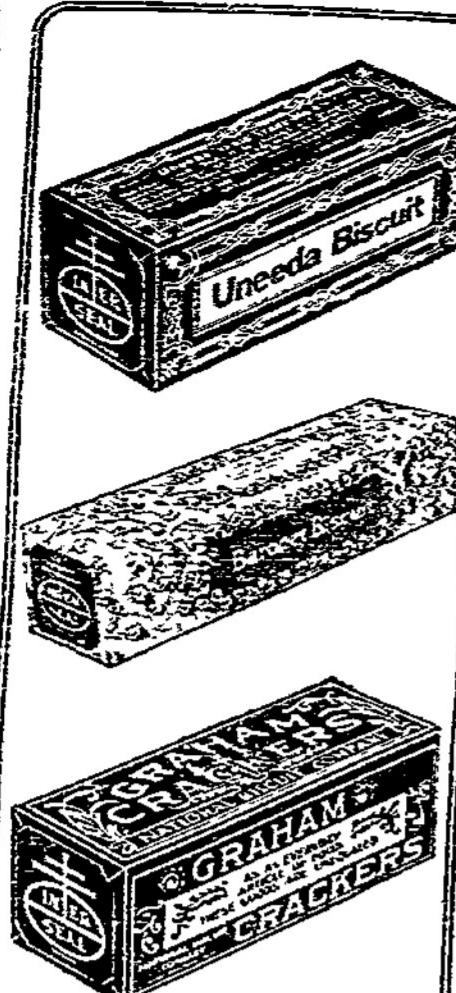

The principles for which Col. Roosevelt and his followers were can be found of the contending only a few months ago and France is that all the German between the nations are now completely abandoned so Socialists went to war. Boss Flinn has determined that the bull moosers of the state must help in the election of a free trade Democrat for governor, and the Democrats are compelled to swallow a ticket made for them by political traders and swappers in the back room of a Philadelphia hotel. just because, Boss Flinn insists upon having revenge on the party which has repeatedly refused to accept him as dictator.

If the followers of Col. Roosevelt in the Antichrist that the in Pennsylvania are sincere and honest in contending for what is recognized as the Roosevelt principles. What else then they have been shamefully tricked by called, with its ad and deceived by Boss Flinn's deal mowing down, along with the Democrats. If they have not been sincere and honest of human beings, they are now properly in the open and must be regarded as Democratic helpers with the single purpose of advancing Democratic policies and principles. He replied, "Game had to be called, m'dear, count of (hic) daylight."

"An angry man strode into the drug store and called for the proprietor. "Look at my head!" he bellowed harshly.

The druggist looked and could not but note that on the man's bald head was a very pronounced protuberance, too large to be styled a mere lump.

"Look at that!" continued the angry man. "It is bad enough to be bald-headed without having a thing like this growing on my dome. Your damned stuff did that—and it's growing bigger every day."

The druggist stepped behind the prescription-case and held a hurried consultation with his clerk. Presently he emerged triumphantly. "I've found out what the trouble is," he announced. "The clerk who waited on you is new and when you asked for a bottle of my hair-restorer he made a slight error and gave you a bottle of my celebrated bust-developer!"

VALUE OF PROPER SPELLING FAMOUS OLD ENGLISH TAVERN

Attribute Highly Valued in Commercial Life, and Is a Sense to Be Developed.

Jack Straw's Castle on Hampstead Heath Has Many Attractions for the Visitor.

Good spelling and intelligent punctuation are the accomplishments that keep many gray-haired women drawing good salaries as stenographers in downtown offices. The manager of a typesetting office from which are sent hundreds of stenographers makes no secret of the fact that good spellers are scarce.

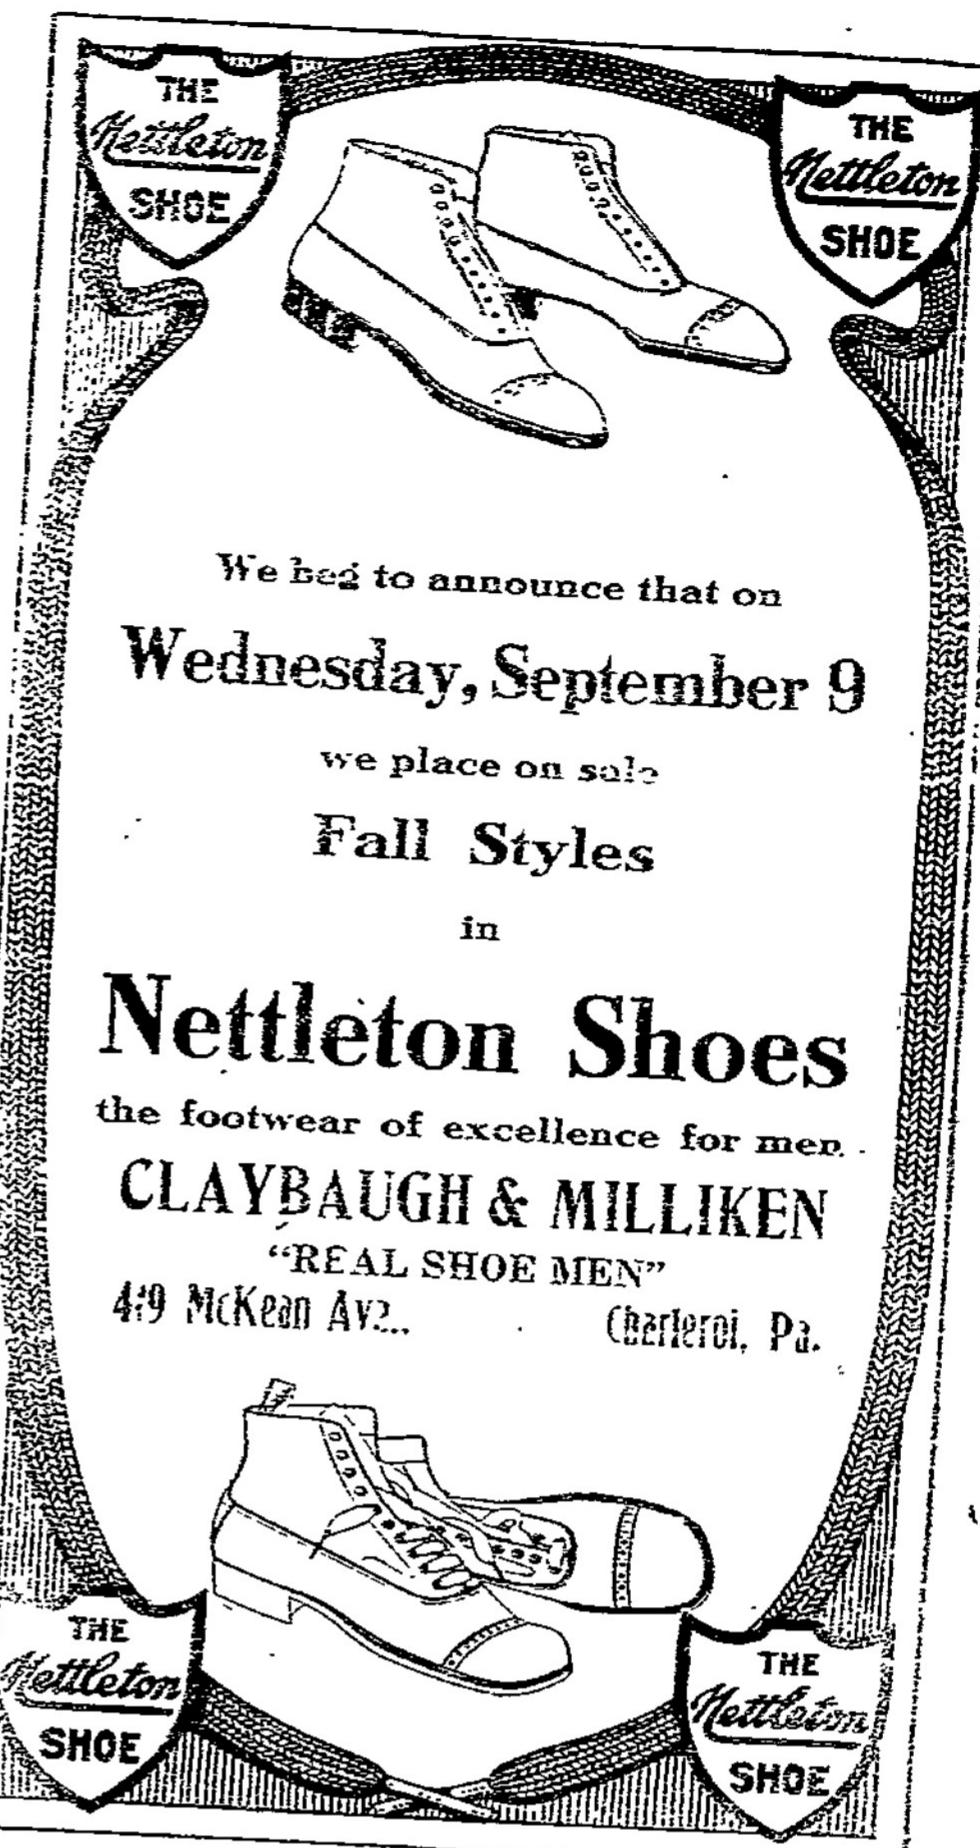

"We had a customer come in the other day," said the manager, "who had evidently had a run of bad luck in the spelling line. He wanted a woman who could spell. 'No matter if she's cross-eyed and has a hunch on her back,' he said, 'if she can spell and write an intelligent letter.' While this was a rather extreme case it shows that employers are beginning to grow impatient over the carelessness of spelling of today."

Another office sending out many stenographers has a series of test letters prepared especially with spelling catches for the unwary. Common words, famous as pitfalls for careless spellers, are strewn throughout these specimen letters. Fully half the applicants put an extra e in separate, in many cases the e before the last syllable in noticeable is missing, while the correct placing of the l's in the word parallel reduces many of the applicants to a state of discouragement.

"Good spelling is a pretty sure sign of mental alertness," said a business man with several offices and many stenographers. "I find that if one of our stenographers is naturally a good speller she is interested in the correct spelling and use of new words that come to her attention in reading or in dictation. Now as a matter of fact it is no small job to keep up with the spelling of the hundreds of new words."

"Our oldest stenographer and our best speller keeps on her desk a little book not more than an inch thick, but it has more first aids to poor spellers than anything I've ever seen. She doesn't use it much, but everybody else does."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Comparison With Gave Man. Everything considered, it is possible that the gave man had an advantage over us. For though his words were few in number he had few ideas to voice, few thoughts to express, few abilities to advance, and these were all of such a nature that his grunt was encyclopedic in its ability to explain. On the other hand, life is now so complex that with all our words, inflections, accents, mimicry, postures and gestures we are often unable to make our meaning perfectly clear.

Trolley Line a Success.

Friday evening Frank Wilson was arrested by Chief Sillman on a charge of disorderly conduct. Wilson it is said was intoxicated and was cutting up in general in Gordon's restaurant on Washington street when his arrest occurred. As a remembrance of his spree the burgess inflicted a fine of $5 on Saturday morning after Wilson had spent the night in the town's calaboose. In Bentleyville arrests have been few and far between lately—an excellent symbol of good order.

structed line. It is also the popular opinion in Bentleyville that the opening of the mentioned car line marked the fall of prices in Bentleyville. Prices, it appears, are somewhat cheaper along the river and stores in Bentleyville have been forced to sell accordingly.

That Spring Feeling.
As the first warmth of spring brought a feeling of lassitude, the farmer's wife in older days would go searching through the woods for "yarbs" from which to make a braw as a tonic for the whole family. The city man, feeling the laziness of "spring fever" coming over him, brought from the corner drug store a 49-cent package of "Old Doc" Somebody's spring tonic. But things are changing. Men have learned that the best spring tonics are the gifts of a beneficent nature. A full breath of fresh air, a brisk walk along a grassy road, a plunge into the cool waters of the old swimming pool—if the water is pure and cold—or the morning shower if in the city, fresh green food, or the pursuit of a bounding golf ball over a spring course—those are the real invigorators, true tonics.—Rochester Sentinel.

No Danger of Competition.
In L'Esprit des Francs is an instance of the sharp, biting wit for which Alexis Piron the French epigrammatist was famous.

A young author whose ability was by no means equal to his conceit was discoursing at length upon the merits of his work.

"I am tired of writing of that which others write of," he said. "I want to create an original work, something that no one has ever written about or ever will write about."

Piron turned quickly to the speaker. "Why not write your own eulogy?" he said.—Youth's Companion.

Under the orders of Emperor William, as the head of the Lutheran church, and with the consent of the Latheran synod, the general prayer, which is said weekly in all Lutheran churches, now asks the protection of God for the aerial service as well as for the army and navy. The sentence, as amended, reads:

"Protect the king's army and the entire German war forces on land and sea, and particularly the ships and airships while on their journeys."

"Let Ev'y Body Do to Suit Himself," replied Jimmy.

Shortening the Law's Delay.
A remarkable change has come over the U. S. bench courts, remarks the Boston Globe. Twelve months ago the action of the courts was so slow that the judges were trying actors which had stood for hearing six months and more. Recently five actions were before the judges which were set down for trial the month before. The ex-lord chancellor once expressed the hope that judges might be in the agreeable position of saying to litigants, "Come into the courts today and we will hear you tomorrow." When litigants have to wait less than three weeks for their cases to be reached the fulfillment of this hope would appear to be not far off.

TRAINED TO MURDER

ASSASSINS ONCE FORMED A VERY INFLUENTIAL SECT.

Had Their Origin in the East and Spread Their Deadly Work Over Almost All Countries of the World.

The assassination of King George of Greece recalls the fact that the word itself is derived from a regular order of men pledged to take life, especially the life of a ruler.

The assassin sect was an offshoot of the Shah form of Mohammedanism, but its tenets comprised fragments of magianism, sorcery, Judaism and Christianity, as well as of the teachings of the Koran. It was in some respects not unlike the Druses of Mount Lebanon, with whose outbreaks the name of Lord Dufferin was honorably connected long before he became governor general of Canada.

Its founder, who gave it his name, was Hassan Ben Sabah, chief of the famous mountain fortress of Alamut in Persia, about 1090. He gathered around him a body of fearless young men, pledged to obey him and highly trained in various methods of murder. These were dispatched, generally singly, to end wars by killing kings or generals, or to destroy rivals or personal enemies.

In order to give them courage for their villainous work, they were taught to make use of hashish, the drug called chang in India, derived from the leaves of the common hemp plant, which is terribly intoxicating. In Arabic they were called hashischin from this fact.

These men followed their instructions in every country, as is shown by the fact that all the European nations have the word in their languages, assassin in German, assassin in French, assassin in Spanish, assassin in Portuguese and Italian, etc. But they flourished especially in the east where they also used the terror of their name for blackmailing purposes.

The Knights Templars in the time of Richard Coeur de Lion, fought them openly, the leaders of the crusades having suffered seriously from their designs, and also spread the knowledge of them and of their leader, known to them as the "Old Man of the Mountains," throughout christendom.

The Mongols massacred the Persian branch of the order in 1256, and the Sultan Beliars tried to extirpate the Syrian branch in 1270. Neither attack was thoroughly successful, however, and the order is believed to exist to this day in Persia, and to be not without influence in some eastern affairs.

Not even Persia had more horrible assassinations than had France at the time of the revolution, and there was awful rightfulness in the words in which the tyrant Robespierre addressed the national convention, when he was refused permission to make a defense against the fate to which he had consigned so many, and which now threatened him: "President of Assassins," said the deposed ruffian, "for the last time I ask you to speak," for by assassins nowadays we mean not members of the sect of that name but a murderer who spills life blood for any other than a purely personal reason.

Why the Spoon Was Black.
The Rev. Fred T. Paton, son of the famous Dr. Paton, who is following up his father's work as missionary to the New Hebrides, possesses a spoon which is a gruesome relic of the old cannibal habits of the islanders. The manner in which the spoon came into his possession is interesting. He was ambushed one day by a tribe of savages, who became exceedingly friendly on learning that he was unarmed. The chief even told him that he was out to shoot a few men, but as he could get them when he wanted them could wait while he entertained his guest.

Before he left that tribe they made him pudding which was thirteen feet round. It was an inch thick at the side and a foot deep in the middle. The ingredients consisting of a pig and some fowls, which were covered with leaves and baked on top and below with hot stones. He was about to begin to eat with a wooden spoon given to him, when a native told him something which made him halt. This spoon had been used for eight generations as the sacred spoon of the tribe, and had figured in all their cannibal feasts. Once it was white, but human blood, grease and dirt had turned it to the color of ebony.

Tudor Bed Brought Bad Luck.
Antiquarians in the old country are searching high and low for a bed that belonged to the old English Tudors. The only clue is that exactly a hundred years ago it was the property of the Rev. Richard Williams, Bodafon Anglesey. The bed came into the possession of Mr. Williams in the following curious fashion: It had been the property of a farmer for a considerable time. The farmer had trouble and got it into his head that the bed was the cause of his bad luck. "Surely, some foul murder had been perpetrated in it," he said, and he gave it to one of his cowboys. Some time after, the boy wanted to raise a little money, and he offered to sell the bed to Mrs. Williams. She did not want it, but to do the boy a favor, as she thought, she bought it from him for nine shillings, little supposing that it odd and antiquated appearance that it had been originally bought at the

SARLY ESCAPED WITH LIFE

Government Engineers Have Strenuous Experience With a Dismal Height of Mount Rainier.

In ascending the height of Mount Rainier last year to determine at least the question of its exact height the government engineers found the elevation to be 14,493 feet, and while engaged in the operation nearly lost their lives. A terrible blizzard was encountered. In fact, two sections of the upper portion of the mountain were necessary to find the top of the upper 4,000 feet, which was at the altitude of 10,000 feet. And down broke with every iteration of development into a "wet" day. During the summer the sun encountered a terrific gale, clouds enveloped the mountain preventing observations, and by noon snow began to fall. A descent was attempted but the party became hopelessly lost in a labyrinth of crevasses the storm developing into a blizzard. To descend further was impossible to remain as outside. Consequently a return to the crater was ordered, and the men reached it after a two hours' climb utterly exhausted and nearly frozen. Here they sought shelter in one of the steam caves, where during the long night they were thoroughly saturated and half frozen in turn. Strenuous measures were employed by the men to keep from falling to sleep and freezing to death. As it was, their fingers and ears were badly frozen. Finally, with a rising barometer, they succeeded in getting 9,000 feet to a temporary camp, making the descent in three hours. Here they recuperated and prepared for another ascent, which was commenced on August 20, the start being made one o'clock in the morning. Great care was exercised and the summit was reached by one o'clock.

SOME ODD DEATH REPORTS

New York World Prints Humorous Returns Alleged to Be Taken From the Records.

The chief statistician of Wisconsin, in examining death certificates filed by physicians with the state board of health, has discovered and disclosed some of more than local interest. They reveal such aberrations of sense and science in the diagnosis of disease and the causes of death as to merit consideration from reformers who wish to put nearly every act of human life under medical supervision.

A few instances must serve to illustrate the nature of a multitude. One report is this: "Went to bed feeling well, but woke up dead." Another says: "Do not know the cause of death, but patient fully recovered from last illness." A third reported: "Last illness caused by chronic rheumatism, was cured before death." Still another: "Deceased never had been really sick." And this: "Died suddenly; nothing serious."

Some reports are mere absurdities, such as: "Kicked by a horse stood on the left knee." "Died suddenly at the age of one hundred and three. To the time he bid fair to reach a ripe old age." "Deceased died from blood poisoning by a broken ankle, which is remarkable, as the automobile struck him between the lamp and the radiator." A mother is reported to have "died in infancy."

The significance of these reports lies in the fact that they emanate from the members of a learned profession, dealing with the practice of that profession.—New York World.

Concerning Their Husbands.
The girls were talking about their husbands.

"I have the dearest husband in the world," said Maude. "If he just wouldn't play cards and drink so much, he'd be perfect."

"My husband doesn't gamble, and he never took a drink in his life," put in Mabel. "He would be a model man, if only could know what he does when he stays away from home at night."

"Ah!" smiled Margaret, "my husband is all that you wish yours could be. He has no bad habits, he comes home on schedule, he denies me nothing, there is no mystery about him. Why, he goes to church every Sunday—or at least he used to."

"Used to!" echoed the chorus. "Aha! Why doesn't he go to church now?"

"He found that it interfered with his golf!"

Margaret was voted winner of the prize package.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

"A married man buttonholed me in the billiard room an hour ago and told a frightful scandal."

"Don't let this go any further, George," he ended.

"No, certainly not," said Ade. "But can you happen to hear it?"

"Oh, the wife, of course, he answered. "She's just like all women—can't keep a secret."

GREENBERG BROS. A FIRM WITE GOOD NOTIONS AS TO ENTERPRISE

Clothing Merchants on Fifth Street Corner Up-To-Date in Their Business- Handie Fine Grade and Big Variety

STORY OF PROGRESS IS INTERESTING HISTORY

This enterprising firm of Greenberg Bros., is composed of Nathan and Louis Greenberg, two of the up-to-date and hustling business men of the town. They engaged in business in their present location at the corner of Fifth street and McKean avenue July 16, 1900. Both of the partners came to Charleroi from Philadelphia where they were born and raised, and where they received a thorough education in the clothing business. They studied every department of the business from the purchasing of the cloth and the cutting of the garment to the selling of the finished product.

Their success in business in Charleroi is largely due to their early education, to their continued, close application to business, to their up-to-date ideas and to their honest method of dealing with the people. They are always foremost in showing what is new in the way of boy's and men's wearing apparel. Then they are very careful in buying so that frequently they can give greater values than others who do not buy so carefully.

In 1907 their business had grown to such an extent that to expand and to provide for their future needs they bought the large, double brick business block, a part of which they now occupy. They remodeled the fronts of both the Fifth street and McKean avenue entrances to the store. They also fitted the store out with glass show cases to protect their goods and at the same time allow of their being on display all the time. Nowhere in Pennsylvania, it is claimed is there a store better prepared to give full value for value received or proprietors more desirous of pleasing their customers. They are prepared to furnish all kinds of men's wearing apparel at a great saving of money to the public.

They can well boast today of being one of the oldest, most reliable and up-to-date furnishers of men's wear-always foremost in showing what is new in the way of boy's and men's wearing apparel. Then they are very careful in buying so that frequently they can give greater values than others who do not buy so carefully.

Thomas Wright, of Roscoe was brought home from the Allegheny General hospital Friday. He was taken there with a broken back as the result of being caught in a heavy fall of slate. An operation was performed and several pieces of bone taken from his back. The spinal cord is almost severed. It is claimed that should he cough or sneeze hard it a great deal and spent much of her might result in his death. They were time sewing and quilting. Mr. John Black and William Peach went to Pittsburg and accompanied him to Roscoe.

ERNEST BELL IS DEAD AT ROSCOE

Ernest Bell, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bell, died at the home of his parents at Roscoe. He was born near the Eclipse mine, November 23, 1898. He was a student of the Douglas Business college in Charleroi. He had been ill much of the time for the past six years and about five years ago he underwent an operation in the Mercy hospital for tuberculosis of the bone. Two years ago he became a victim of Bright's disease. All day Friday his father watched by his bedside expecting that any moment might be his last. He seemed much better and his father went off to his work. With some little help he was able to get up out of bed and sat in a rocking chair for a short time where he passed away. He is survived by one sister, Anna, and one brother, Arthur, and also his parents. The funeral was held Saturday and the body interred in Howes cemetery.

New Treatment for Lockjaw. One of the most remarkable cures ever recorded of lockjaw is announced by Dr. Adolph H. Urban, of Brooklyn, who used a new method never tried in this country. It is a combination of the recognized antitetanus serum with subsequent subcutaneous injections of carbolic acid.

The case reported by Dr. Urban is that of a five-year-old boy, Oliver Pinkney. He was apparently infected while playing in the earth of his yard. In a short time he developed convulsions, and finally the rigidity that is usually a precursor of death. Dr. Urban decided to resort to heroic measures.

The child apparently did not respond for several hours; rigidity and intense depression continued. Suddenly, however, he began to show the effects of the treatment, and the improvement was remarkably rapid.

The child was attacked in September. Now he is apparently as well as ever.

His Art Calendar. One of those pictures with German titles, who are on the pay-roll of the British army because they are relatives of the late Queen Victoria or the present Queen Mary, was in New York not so very long ago, and somehow paid a visit to the studio of a well-known American artist who shall be nameless. His familiars say that ever since that high day this artist has had a novel and peculiar method of reckoning time. For instance, he will remark to a visitor:

"Ah, you are looking at that little thing over there by the window. It was begun—let's see—just two weeks after the Prince of Battenwick was here for tea."

An appeal will be made to all Slavs in the United States to contribute at least $1 for the aid of their countrymen in their war in Europe, according to the decision of representative Slovaks in Pittsburgh. About 200 Slovaks representing several thousand of their countrymen were present at a meeting held in Pittsburgh. The members of the league decided to observe the request of President Wilson to hold prayers for peace at all churches on October 4. A contribution will be taken up on that day and will be sent to their native country. Ameer of Bokhara Said to Be Storing Up Treasure at the Rate of $8,000,000 a Year.

The largest private hoard in the world is probably that owned by the Ameer of Bokhara, the Russian vassal state in Central Asia, writes the St. Petersburg correspondent of the New York Sun. According to the Turkestan-Krai the Ameer possesses in his stronghold a vault 315 feet long, 45 feet wide and 20 feet high, completely filled with gold bars and coined gold.

Some years ago the Ameer had another vault built to hold his savings, and the new storehouse is now almost full. There is at the Bokhara court an enormous cash book, which has served for generations and in which all revenues and expenditures are supposed to be put down, but also for generations it has never been checked with the cash in hand.

Grafting is the easiest thing in the world at Bokhara. The Ameer's officials draw no salary. They are appointed on the understanding that they must keep themselves on what they can make out of their various offices. There is no budget, and the largest permanent charge on the Ameer's income is one of $15,000 annually for a local hospital. Then there is a small contribution toward the upkeep of the Russian police in the protectorate and the maintenance of the Bokhara "army" which has shrunk to a mere bodyguard.

The Ameer's annual savings, it is calculated, amount to more than $8,000,000 a year. He is by traditional usage compelled to send every year a number of valuable "presents" to the Russian authorities at Samarkand and Tashkent. These presents consist of carpets, silks and the like, which are immediately sold by the recipients to native traders, from whom the Ameer as regularly buys them back at fixed prices, to be stored up and to serve again as "presents" the following year.

Blood Stain Convicted Them. A French professor has discovered quite recently a way of detecting such a tiny quantity of blood as to be almost inconceivable. Here is an instance of what can be done. Two soldiers, Graby and Michel, murdered a Mme. Goude in a railway carriage and afterward washed their hands and dried them on the roller towel in the lavatory on board the train.

The two murderers, frightened by a drop of blood from their hands on the towel, thoroughly washed it and hung it up to dry. Apparently the towel was spotlessly clean; yet Dr. R. A. Reisse, the famous French scientist, was able to detect that the towel had been blood-stained, and so to convict the two murderers.

Nautical Operation. The sailing tank ship Jules Henri de Marseilles recently underwent an operation at Rotterdam which transformed her into a motor tank ship. After the masts had been removed the vessel was cut in two. The parts were separated and a new section of about 50 feet placed amidships. Two Diesel motors, each of 500 horsepower, were then installed. The transformed motor tank ship now has a capacity of 3,000 tons of oil. After a first voyage to the Black sea the ship will be employed regularly between Europe and America.

Men's New Fall Wear

Many have the idea that this store is for women only. We want to dis-illusion you. While 'tis true this is very much a ladies' store, we call your attention to the fact that for the last five years we're aided materially in supplying the wants of the men hereabouts, and we're still growing—getting better and bigger each day.

And now for the new fall goods, new fall suits already going out, overcoats, Balmacaans, new caps, hats and furnishings.

New suits right in stock—viv, snap, style in every line and curve. The last word of fashion for the young dresser. More conservative cuts for those preferring quiet dressing to style extremes. Every suit or coat must fit, everyone must wear, "Satisfaction or money back" is our motto. Men's and young Men's suits $16, $18, $20, $22 and $23.

Kahn tailored to measure suits for those who require the little individual curves and cuts—the best woolens only—the approved styles $18 to $45.

New fall hats—the new styles just in, High Crown Soft Hats, contrast bands—blues, blacks, browns, $2 and $2.50.

British Trolley Lines. In 1912 the trolley lines of Great Britain carried more than 3,000,000,000 passengers. This traffic was carried on 2,642 miles of track and in less than 13,000 cars. Significant also is the fact that whereas in 1900 there were 37,000 horses employed in hauling street cars, in 1912 there were only 500.

Memory Failure.

A Russian doctor gives interesting accounts of memory failure of some of his patients. A literary man had been troubled with absolute failure of memory. He could remember exactly anything he had done more than a year ago, but occurrences of later date he had entirely forgotten. When attacked by the disease he was engaged in writing a novel which he had half-finished. He remembered the first half, but could not tell how he had intended to finish it. He was at last unable to remember whether he had dined.

Standing In With the Doctor. The wife of a surgeon in Baltimore was one afternoon giving a bridge party when, just before the guests began to arrive, she found that she had not a sufficient number of chairs. In her desperation she betook herself to a nearby undertaker who might be willing to let her have a few of the needed pieces. She telephoned and was horrified at the reply.

"Why certainly, Mrs. Smith. We'll let you have all you want at half-price—the doctor gives us so much business."
